GENERAL ANNOUNCEMENT

The Third Exhibition of the National Sculpture Society will be held in the Galleries of the Building of the American Fine Arts Society, 215 West 57th Street, beginning April 30th, 1898, and will be open for two weeks.

The scope of the Exhibition will include works of sculpture, examples of applied sculpture, architectural casts, bronze, silver and metal work, and photographs of sculpture in America.

The designs submitted in the competition for a Sun Dial, instituted by Mr. T. Lally, of New York, in which a very wide interest has been manifested, will form one of the notable features of the Exhibition.

No works will be admitted to the Exhibition which have been shown at any previous Exhibition held by the Society, and it will not, in any event, collect nor return exhibits. The Society will in no sense be responsible for accidents arising from non-compliance with the rules of the Exhibition. The Exhibition will be covered by insurance effected by the Society.

DATES.—Exhibit entry blanks MUST be returned not later than March 1st, 1898.

Exhibits will be received April 25th and 26th, 1898.

Positively no works received after these dates.

Exhibition opens, April 30th, 1898.

All exhibits must be delivered at 215 West 57th Street at the owner's risk and expense. Packing cases will not be received at the Galleries.

Non-residents must send their exhibits to a New York consignor for delivery to the Galleries. Exhibits may be consigned to CONSIGNEES.—William S. Budworth & Son, No. 424 West 52d Street. Wm. Schill, 81 University Place. J. Harrison Mills, No. 147 East 23d Street.

IMPORTANT.—It is important that entry blanks be returned to the Secretary of the Society at as early a date as possible.

Pedestals will be furnished by the Society.

Large pieces of sculpture requiring more than two men to handle may be examined by the Jury at Selection at the sculptor's studio if in New York or Brooklyn.

Exhibits will be accepted on condition that they shall not be withdrawn before the close of the Exhibition, though it should be extended beyond the limit herein set.

All works must be removed within two days after the close of the Exhibition. Those not removed will be stored at the owner's risk and expense.

Of previous circulars, No. 1 is a preliminary announcement of the Exhibition. No. 2 contains the conditions for the Sun Dial Competition. No. 3 relates to the proposed collection of photographs of sculpture in America.

Names of intending or probable exhibitors, with the correct address, may, at any time, be sent to the Secretary of the Society, Mr. Barr Ferree, 112 Wall Street, New York, for filing for future circulation. The Society cannot undertake to reach names not on its register.

BARR FERREE,
Secretary.

Dear Sir!

In reply to your kind letter of

I desire to have kept my name
in your rolls.

My hope is still, that I have once the fortune to meet with one of your members in Hamburg for spending some hours in numismatics, till-now I had only Mr Chapman from Philadelphia for a little time as a visitor.

My correspondence with your society has been entirely neglected, because I don't like to trouble you with small notices on which I think it is something new or unknown
and afterwards is already known to you.
The history of coins, medals and tokens
of the American continent and Islands, and also the Medal from other parts of the world relating to America is so large and so little known by publications, that it is only possible for me to give contributions to numismatics, if I have a book, pamphlet or so on as the first beginning.

For Canada I have	Liberal

"	Crosby

"	Washington Medals
"	Hard time token
"	Cents from 93-94
"	Congress Medals

and in general Fournberg, Medina,
Munoz, Vidal, Cuadras, Ramon, Llanos,
Alcivar and Franks.

By this list of books you will see that I do my best to keep me up in American numismatic affairs and try to make every publication, if I know that one is in preparation as complete as possible; so I sent my Brazil coins to Mr Meili, my railroad medals to

G. F. Ulex.

Hamburg.

Mr von Lohse (Münch) and now
I am in correspondence with Mr
Barton of Mexico.

If there is an opinion to make a second larger edition from Bills, than it is possible for me to give something to it. I find it also a pity that there is not a work about New York city & state for the whole line of Medals and Tokens, the few notes in the Bills catalog are so interesting and should be collected in one volume; the Jenny Lind Medal is my collection in a very fine bronze piece, beside some other American Jenny Lind.

Mr Meili is now at work on slavery medals and on C.M.
on Spanish and Spanish American coins, to bring some light in this branch of coins from the slavery medals I sent him 40 out of my collection with are connected with this.

For the coin he did not yet ask for but also from this I sent him a number.

Hoping I give you with this an excursion for my long absence, I would be very glad if you give me a notice about math line of our interesting study is specially cultivated from one or the other members.

With the best compliments
to the society
I remain

Yours

Dear Sir

In answer to your inquiry let me state that Mr. Alfred Sandham has long since — twenty years ago and more removed from Montreal. I think I communicated that fact to one or two former Secretaries of the Society. He has all this time been a resident of Toronto. His present address is 61 Victoria Street but as he contemplates giving up his office it will soon be changed.

I am preparing a list of medals of which there are about twenty five varieties. It will appear in the Antiquarian and a copy of this will be useful in your record of American Medals. A number of others have been issued during the past year which I may describe in the course of the present year

Dear Sir.

I beg to express my deep appreciation of the honor implied in my election as a corresponding Member of the American Numismatic and Archaeological Society, the more so as I am sensible that as yet I have done or at least published but little in the Numis-

Society will be the more welcome to me should I be able to carry through, as I hope to do, certain plans I have formed for the development of the Collection of Harvard University in which for years I have taken much interest.

I have the pleasantest recollections of a week I once spent in your rooms & trust that here long I shall have an opportunity to renew my acquaintance with some of your books.

With renewed thanks

THE AMERICAN NUMISMATIC & ARCHAEOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

17 West 43rd Street, New York City.

On the 27th of April of this year, which is the anniversary of the birth of Gen. U. S. Grant, will be celebrated the completion of the beautiful and artistic monument on Riverside Drive in the City of New York. As is only fitting, in consideration of the importance of the event, it is intended to make the celebration as noteworthy as possible.

To further commemorate the occasion, the American Numismatic and Archaeological Society <sup>will</sup> ~~will~~ <sup>herein</sup> issue a medal, a cut of which is shown ~~below~~. The medal is two and a half inches in diameter, and will be struck in bronze; it ~~will~~ bears on the obverse, the bust of Gen. Grant and the seal of the Society. The portrait committee of the Society, after careful deliberation and research, selected for the medal design, the portrait which appeared in the Century Magazine for December, 1894, accompanying its famous series of war articles. It is also the one which Gen. Grant himself <sup>when</sup> accepted as a correct representation of himself as he was <sup>at</sup> in his prime. On the reverse of the medal, appears a true picture of the completed monument. The designs for the medal were prepared by Messrs. Tiffany & Co., of New York, in accordance with the instructions of the ~~American Numismatic and Archaeological~~ Society; and the die cutting is also their work.

The American Numismatic and Archaeological Society, which issues the Grant medal, was organized in 1868, and has recently passed its thirty-ninth anniversary. It is located in the New York Academy of Medicine Building, No. 17 West

HISTORY OF THE GRANT MONUMENT MEDAL

ISSUED BY THE American Numismatic and Historical Society in 1977

At the regular meeting of the Executive Committee of the AMERICAN NUMISMATIC AND HISTORICAL SOCIETY, held at its rooms in the Academy of Medicine Building on January 11th 1957, the President of the Society suggested that the organization strike a medal to commemorate the completion of the Grant Mausoleum on Riverside Drive, which was expected to receive the remains of the illustrious dead in the following April.

The President's suggestion meeting with the general approval of those present, on motion of Mr. Belden the Chair appointed a preliminary Committee, consisting of Messrs. Belden, Kunz, and Barhydt, to investigate the desirability, and practicality of issuing such a Medal struck, and report the result of their inquiries at the regular Meeting of the Society to be held at its rooms on January 18th 1957. At this Meeting the Committee named reported favorably upon the proposition with much enthusiasm, and upon motion a committee of seven, of which the President of the Society was to be Chairman, was appointed ~~the Chair~~ with full power to make all arrangements.

The Committee consisted of the following gentlemen:- Andrew F. Zabriskie, Chairman, P. Mackley Barhydt, Herman L. Belden, George F. Kunz, Charles Pryer, J. Sanford Saltus, Norbert Valentine. This Committee was afterwards increased to ten, by the addition of the following gentlemen, <sup>Mr</sup> Russell Browne, Edward Groh, and J. Kennedy Ted.

The Committee organized immediately by making President Zabriskie Chairman, and George F. Kunz Secretary, and started upon its labors.

It was ~~moved and carried~~ <sup>decided</sup> that the Chair appoint several sub-committees, which he accordingly did as follows:-

- Committee on Design for Medal,
  - P. Mackley Barhydt
  - George F. Kunz
  - Herman L. Belden

Committee on Finance,

Herbet Valentine

Charles Pryor

Press Committee

George F. Kunz

Herbert Valentine

Committee on Relations to Grant Monument Committee,

Andrew C. Zabriskie

J. Sanford Saltus

Committee on Portrait

George F. Kunz

P. Hackley Barhydt

After some discussion it was decided that the Medal should be two and one half inches in diameter. On reverse should appear view of monument and around it "Dedicated April 27th 1887" and on obverse, bust of General Grant and below it the seal of the Society. Inscription "General U. S. Grant," and separating head from seal four stars (the symbol of rank.) Medals struck in silver to be limited to members of Society and distinguished persons for presentation.

~~After its organization~~ The first meeting of the General Committee was held at the residence of the President, 716 Fifth Avenue, on February 10th for the purpose of selecting a design from those offered by the Sub-Committee. A number were presented, several having considerable merit, but after some discussion the design of Messrs. Tiffany & Co. was selected. It was further decided that the portrait of General Grant which had appeared in the Century Magazine of December 1884, and which the General himself had stated to be a correct representation of him in his prime, be adopted.

~~Committee~~ It was also decided at this meeting to give a vote of thanks to all who had offered designs, whether accepted or not, and ask them if they were willing to contribute said designs to be placed in a volume to remain in the archives of the Society, with all other matters relating to the Grant Monument Medal.

Messrs Valentine & Pryor, of the Finance Committee, reported that they had formulated a circular and sent it to all the members describing the Medal and the conditions upon which it could be obtained by all belonging to the Society, and in response to this communication twenty nine (29) silver and sixty three (63) bronze medals had been subscribed for. Messrs. Tiffany & Company, also agreed to offer the bronze medals for sale, the Society having put no restrictions against their being purchased by the public.

The next meeting of the Committee was held on March 15th 1887 at the Society room, when a letter from the Secretary of the Grant Monument Committee was read, announcing that the said Committee had accepted the Society's Medal as the official medal of the Municipal Grant Monument Committee.

At this meeting of the Medal Committee it was decided that a medal in gold be presented to General Horace Porter, that the large hall of the Academy of Medicine be engaged for the evening of April 13th 1887 and that the presentation should be made with due ceremonies, including a reception and collation.

It was also <sup>decided</sup> ~~resolved~~ to print a circular to be sent to the press announcing the issuing of the medal and describing the same.

At a meeting held on March 31st 1897 at the rooms of the Society, a letter was read from General George B. Porter stating he should feel greatly honored to accept the only gold Grant Memorial Medal from the American Numismatic & Archaeological Society. At this meeting a Committee consisting of President Zabriske and Vice President Trease was appointed to procure cards of invitation for the presentation ceremonies. A Reception Committee was also appointed as follows: Andrew C. Zabriske, Samuel P. Avery, P. Mackley Barclay, William L. Belden, Alfred J. Elmer, Russell Browne, John H. James A. Garland, John T. Goulet, John A. C. Gray, Edward Gron, George F. Harz, Woodbury F. Langdon, Gordon Morris, Daniel Parish Jr., Charles Pryer, J. Sanford Saltus, Augustus St. Julien, W. Reinlander Stewart, J. Kennedy Tod, Calvin Tompkins, Herbert Valentine, William R. Weeks, James H. Whitehouse and James B. Wilson.

Between this date and the ceremony of the presentation large meetings were held at which much detail work was done and two sub-committees appointed, one on refreshments consisting of Messrs. Barclay and Saltus, and the other to arrange the exhibition of Grant Models, and composed of Messrs. Gron & Belden. At these meetings it was also decided to present silver medals to the following distinguished persons at home and abroad,

The President of the United States.

The Mayor of the City of New York.

Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant.

Her Majesty Victoria, Queen of England and Empress of India.

His Holiness Pope Leo XIII.

His Imperial Majesty Nicholas II Czar of Russia.

His Imperial Majesty William II Emperor of Germany.

His Imperial Majesty The Emperor of Japan.

His Imperial Majesty Francis Joseph, Emperor of Austria.

His Majesty Umberto I, King of Italy.

Her Majesty Wilhelmina, Queen of The Netherlands.

His Most Catholic Majesty Alfonso XIII, King of Spain.

His Imperial Majesty, the Emperor of China.

These medals were presented in the name of the Society.

At the last meeting held on Monday evening April 19th, 1907, it was decided to have the following inscription engraved <sup>upon the reverse of</sup> ~~upon the reverse of~~ the gold medal to be presented to General Porter, "Presented to General George Porter by the American Numismatic & Archaeological Society, April 10th 1907," and it was further decided that a number be attached to each ~~bronze~~ medal disposed of by the Society.

Medals in bronze were presented to Foreign and American Numismatic Societies, and Messrs. Salins, Brown and Kurz were appointed to take charge of the matter. The Sub-Committee on Refreshments, Badges, Invitations and Programme, reported that all things would be in readiness at the appointed time.

On Friday evening, April 12th, 1907, the Presentation Ceremony took place. The Society, through its Reception Committee received its guests in the large hall of the New York Academy of Medicine.

The Chair was taken at half past nine o'clock by President Zabriskie who spoke as follows:

of a GRANT MONUMENT MEDAL, in aid, to GENERAL GEORGE BENTON

~~Meeting called to order at 8:00 P. M.~~

~~Chairman Saberski:~~

Ladies and Gentlemen: On behalf of the American Numismatic & Archaeological Society, I bid you all welcome.

While walking downtown on the bright and beautiful mornings of the past week, I have watched with feelings akin to sadness the demolition of that old landmark, the Goelst mansion on the northeast corner of 19th Street and Broadway.

Years ago it was a source of delight to me, a little child, when taken out for a walk to stop and peer through the iron railings at the cow, the peacock, and the golden pheasants and if perchance the peacock should spread his tail, my cup of joy would be full.

I mention this simply as an instance why in such a city as ours, where changes occur with such frequency, the utility of the American Numismatic & Archaeological Society should be apparent. Its duty is to collect and preserve the relics of the past and to mark important current events by the issue of medallion memorials. Following this course the Grant Monument Medal has been ~~xxxxxx~~ prepared.

The old adage "Well begun is half done" may be true in most cases, but its truthfulness can not be maintained when the matter of erecting monuments in the United States is considered. The Washington Monument ~~xxxxxx~~ at our National Capital standing unfinished for years.

77

caused the remark that Washington was first in war, and first in peace, was the last to get a monument.

Had it not been for the efforts of one man, we might to-day in New York also possess an unfinished monument. To that man, therefore, it seemed fitting that this Society should present the Gold medal. General Porter to you, who took up an enterprise which while it may have been well begun was certainly not half done and carried it to a successful conclusion, the American Numismatic & Archaeological Society takes pleasure in presenting this medal.

GENERAL PORTER replied as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies & Gentlemen: Your presiding officer told me a moment ago, in the adjoining room, that the hall was full. I said "Do you think it will remain so after we have begun to speak?" He said "There will be refreshments afterwards" ~~(laughter)~~ This encouraged me. My only regret to-night is that my good friend Bishop Potter is not able to be here. I was told he was detained by a confirmation. I had a fellow feeling with him--- in the United States Senate I was detained by a confirmation. It was intended that my confirmation should last only four years; virtually, the confirmation of the Bishop will undoubtedly last through eternity.

Now, Mr. President, I first want to express my deep sense of appreciation and my profoundest gratitude for the kindness which prompted this gift you have just handed me. I am also appreciative of the kindly sentiments which prompted it as well as those which you have expressed.

It is said that gratitude is a debt left to the donor to pay in any coin he pleases. Alas! I cannot coin any phrases of sufficient value to thank you for this gift to-night.

The study of numismatics has interested people more and more, and I think we never realized its importance more than when we go to that great repository the British Museum, and see the collection they have amassed, and the fabulous sums they have paid for old coins. The preservation of the coins of nations has furnished at times like a truer history of those countries. Not only have we awakened to the importance of this study in this country, but we find that many not only have civilized people taken an interest in it, but even the uncivilized. I remember seeing the medal General Jackson presented to the famous Red Jacket, the Chief of the Six Xa Indian Nations, that afterwards came into the possession of General Parker, who served with General Grant. I do not think there was anything which was presented to him which he valued more than that medal which came down to him from Red Jacket.

There was a great discussion arose at the time of General Grant's death, as to where his body should rest. Many were in favor of taking it to Washington. If it had been taken there, you would probably not have a separate monument to depict upon your medal, for the project was to deposit the remains in a crypt, in the Capitol, and to start a sort of Westminster Abbey there. Well, that would not have been distinctive for him or any one who followed him: because when a man died, of any circumstance, the question would come up as to how the selection was to be made as to where he was to go in this Westminster Abbey of ours; and as things go by selection over there, it might have been after the manner of some of the sculptures that disfigure the National Capitol.

There were many arguments why the remains should not go to Washington. The family had expressed a wish, they living here, that it be in New York, so that they could visit it and place fresh flowers upon it; and it happened that no President had been buried in the National Capital--- all having been buried in their respective states. That there is a very touching history connected with this location here. In the last days of General Grant's agonizing illness his voice had left him entirely, and he could only communicate his wishes to those about him by pencil. There he lay, he who led the legions of American manhood, he could not slake his fevered thirst; and the hand that grasped the conquered swords of thousands could not return the grasp of a hand's friendly pressure. And there lay that form which in the New World had conquered to stand with head covered and feet sanded in the presence of Kings, Princes and Potentates.

Under these circumstances, he wrote on the tablet, first, "Galena", the place of his birth; and then "Chicago"; and then he wrote "West Point", but this he erased, fearing that Mrs. Grant could not be laid to rest beside him as he had expressed it as his wish in his last will and testament; and then he wrote "New York", saying, as the people had been very kind to him, he would like to rest there; and then he was seized with a paroxysm of pain, and the conversation by means of the tablet was cut off. And so it seems that his last wish was to be in New York. The choice of that site which the monument now occupies, is an ideal one. It will stand nearly 300 feet above the river, it will be reflected in the noble waters of the Hudson, it can be seen from the decks of vessels entering the harbor in the North River; it can be viewed from 30 miles up the river.

So now we have a tomb, not only a monument, but a memorial tomb, that has been pictured in an enduring form on this medal which has been struck by your most efficient society. It was most fortunate, sir, that this society was organized. Individuals do not strike medals--they are struck by governments and societies--and you want organization for such purposes. We can do nothing without organization and it is thus that the means and brains are brought together; only in such case will you be able to add to the medallion history of this country.

I can only again express my deep sense of appreciation for your having placed as a gift in my hands a copy of this enduring medal. It has been for you, for the first time, to place this souvenir of the tomb of the great General, in which he rests, in an enduring form. I can only thank you to-night and say good-bye as I will have to say to you again. So good bye. (Applause)

CHAIRMAN ZARRISKIE: On that commanding plateau where the Grant monument now rears itself, there are in process of construction three institutions, which it occurs to me write in quite a striking manner the cardinal virtues, Faith, Hope and Charity. It had been my desire to-night to have the head of each of those institutions with us, and as it were extend the hand of neighborly fellowship on the occasion of the presentation of this medal. I regret, however, to say that this afternoon I received ~~the following~~ letter from Bishop Potter, who would have represented the Cathedral, stating that he could not attend (~~read letter of~~ Bishop Potter)

The other institution, St. Luke's Hospital, which ~~is~~ clearly represents charity in ~~a modest~~ <sup>the noblest</sup> way, is, however, represented here to-night by its president. I have the pleasure of introducing Mr. George MacCallloch Miller.

MR. MILLER: Ladies and Gentlemen: When I arrived to-night, finding I came in between Bishop Potter and President Low, on the list of speakers, I could see no reason why I should be chosen to be put in between those two gentlemen, unless as a sort of a missing link between the doctrine of divinity and the doctrine of law--filling the chasm of religion and science. However, the Bishop is not here--he is more missing than myself. I relied upon the Bishop to give me some inspiration and to give me some faith, that there might be some little things unsaid when he finished that I might pick up afterwards.

It seems to me that what I will have to say relates more to our friend who is going away. I fear the effect upon him of the series of entertainments he is being put through night after night. What I fear in the case of our friend is that the French people, hearing one of his post prandial speeches---American speeches done in French---will never allow him to come back to us. I rather expect to find upon the General's return that he will be exhausted physically and absolutely stranded pecuniarily. I will then come to his relief, or my successor in office. And now, General, I promise you will be well cared for when you return. I think I shall promise you a private room, for they are talking of utilizing certain rooms at St. Luke's to take care of foreign ambassadors.

During the short period I shall last, I shall take great pleasure in thinking you are going ahead with a freer hand than if you had not this asylum of refuge to enter upon your return. I am sure the Bishop, out of his experience as a confessor, would have said some word of caution to you about the pit-falls of Gay Parisian life.

Ladies and Gentlemen: there is something more that St. Louis stands for---it is the product of love man for man. It stands now, sustained by that very thing, and it is, perhaps, an embodiment of the love that first arose, and which has gone on until you see it in the results of the charitable institutions with which New York is abundantly graced.

My friend, it seems to me, has much of that exquisite love. He showed it in his love of his country in going to the front, and staying there to the end; he has shown it here in New York, only that was for the good of mankind here; and, saying it reverently, he has shown it in exquisite illustration in his devotion and love to his great Chieftain and Commander.

Speaking for the Society that we represent here to-night, it seems to me it has done a charming thing and lovely thing in presenting this medal to General Porter. It seems as though the Society had obtained a medal, and that we, in this man who here in New York stands for the closest representative of General Grant, is entrusting it to him, have found out a more proper and fitting recipient and guardian for it than any one else upon whom it could be bestowed.

I think the feeling that has been shown in this bestowal to night is a beautiful illustration of how some men develop sympathy in a pursuit of this kind. The American Numismatic and Archaeological Society was engaged in searching the past, the remote past, by means of languages recorded in metal. The oldest records we have are those engraved in metals. The most enduring things have crumbled away, but we have found their records to exist in metals and coins.

Notwithstanding this pre-occupation with the remote past, yet this Society comes to the very forefront of to-day, and recognizes the great event this monument commemorates, and its bearing is relation to the future. Then, there is another thing which relates itself to all these. We have on that hill, on the northern point of which stands the monument, the Cathedral, Academy of Design, then the Hospital then Columbia College, then the Teachers College and then Harvard College, and then to show it in from the outside world, stands this monument to General Grant, something which, it seems to me, nothing can go by without becoming notice. Think what it will be! The North River on the West, the Morningside bluffs and cliffs on the East, the Cathedral, Parkway and Academy of Design on the South, and the Drive-way on the West, and then around and about the vicinity is filling up with institutions of learning, and so forth. Think what a place of delight it will be to the whole world!

Now, come to our distinguished guest again, because the only thing wanting to the success in New York in any enterprise which would lead to a special attainment has been civic pride. We have lacked it all along and it has been wanting and lacking until their came a time, that the fortunes of the Grant monument were destined to bring it to a test. When, by General Porter's ingenious industry, in six short weeks the whole amount was raised, that was required to build it, the result of that was the awakening of the public mind to civic pride, and it is that which I trust will carry it forward forever.

And so with these words, expressed on behalf of St. Luke's, expressed if I may venture to take the liberty, on behalf of the trustees of the Cathedral, I say on behalf of these institutions, if I am allowed to speak for both, to you, General Porter, the American representative to France, God speed you and God bless you.

CHAIRMAN ZANICHIE: If the Cathedral represented Faith, and St. Luke's Hospital Charity, the remaining cardinal virtue, Hope, is represented by Columbia College. A few weeks ago, I would have scarcely suggested the word Hope to the trustees of the College, while they were involved in their discussion of the strike on their building, but I trust I may say to-night that it does suggest Hope, from the fact that young men are there trained in hope---Alas, sometimes never to be fulfilled! To represent that cardinal virtue, I have the pleasure of introducing President Lee.

MR. LOW: Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"Hope springs eternal in the human ~~heart~~ breast.
"Man never is, but always to be, blest."

If that was my feeling during this strike to which reference has been made, I suppose it is your feeling when you look forward this evening to that feast of good things of which General Porter advised you earlier in the evening. I like to think that Mr. Miller might have been justified, on the hospital side, in his intent at least, in picturing General Porter as a subject for the care of St. Luke's Hospital when he returned from the gay Capital of France; but I trust our Ambassador will bear the labors of his office and return in better condition. And yet there is a fear that neither St. Luke's nor Columbia will stand him in his hour of need, that is, when he is crossing the ocean. Upon one occasion in crossing the ocean he parted with everything he had, everything except the immortality of his soul, the care of which, of course, belongs to the absent Bishop, rather than the hospital or college.

I have always been glad that this Society has honored itself and voiced so direct a sentiment of our city in presenting this Grant Monument medal to General Porter. I think this achievement in filling out within a few weeks the subscriptions for that monument, which had for one reason or another dragged along, was a splendid illustration of our civic spirit and civic pride. The City of New York was demonstrated to be by that achievement a good deal like the Army of the Potomac--it was always a grand army, but it needed a right leader before it crowned its achievements at Appomattox. And it is just so, I am sure, in regard to our city. Men say that it is a city that is too big, that it has no homogeneity, and all the rest of it. I do not believe there is a city in the land with more public spirit when it is aroused. It requires great occasions and great men to arouse it, but when General Porter undertook to gather in these subscriptions for the monument, then it awakened; the cause and demand met, and the city arose. I think that it is encouraging to us all, because sometimes it seems to me that the city is hard to move. I think that we shall have learned one thing from our friend who is going to France, namely; the people are all right, and it only needs the leader and the occasion to bring them to the front.

I have had the good fortune to know General Porter pretty well now for a number of years. I had the good fortune to meet General Grant once or twice in an interesting way. Perhaps because I did meet both the men I have often been interesting in explaining to myself the great friendship that existed between these two men, to which Mr. Miller has referred---a friendship to which General Porter has been so loyal, a friendship which General Grant delighted to recognize as long as he lived. It is not hard to find the reason. We have seen the efficiency of General Porter displayed in this city on more occasions than one.

and each year has added much to the great qualities of the great commander who must be leaned upon in times of war. I think back of times that they must have been drawn together by their honor. General Grant had the reputation of being so silent, and when he went around the world, it surprised me what he said. First it surprised every one to think he spoke at all, as every one had thought he was a man of peace. Then, after that wonder passed, they men noticed that he spoke with wonderful wisdom, and so they followed him around the world, not only with a pride that follows a man who was our President, but with quite a new pride.

When he spoke in his autobiography, it was a surprise to find the lucidity of his style, but it was a greater surprise to note the evidences of his keen humor. I had never realized until then that that feature of his character was so marked. You who have never looked at his autobiography, pick it up and you will see that it is filled with the keenest touches of humor. I remember one of his stories about General Bragg, showing how, even in the illustration of great ideas, he used this weapon. He was speaking of General Bragg's defeat at Chattanooga, and he said he thought one cause was because Bragg was very quarrelsome. And he relates this story about General Bragg: "I have heard in the old army an anecdote very characteristic of Bragg. On one occasion, when stationed at a post consisting of several companies which were commanded by a field officer, he was himself commanding one of the companies, and at the same time acting as post quarter-master and commissary. He was a first lieutenant and his captain was detached on other duty, which made him commander of the company proper. As commander of the company, he made a requisition upon the quarter-master (himself) for something he wanted. As quarter-master he declined to fill the requisition he had made and endorsed on the back of it his reasons for so doing.

as company commander he replied to these objections, saying that his requisition called for nothing but what he was entitled to, and that it was the duty of the quarter-master to fill it. As quarter-master he still persisted that he was right in refusing. In this condition of affairs, Bragg referred the whole matter to the commanding officer of the post, who, when he saw the nature of the matter referred to him, exclaimed: "You have quarrelled with every officer in the army, and now you are quarrelling with yourself."

I think, when we see a man with that keen sense of fun, we think he should revel in the companionship of General Porter. Therefore, for the same reasons that General Porter commanded the affection of General Grant, we must and do rejoice in every honor that comes to him and every evidence of affection by our people; and I think that I may say, speaking on behalf of the university and other educational institutions of the South, that we are especially indebted to him for this work in connection with the monument so soon to be transferred to the city, because we look upon it, however other may, as one of the great educators of our city. I am confident no young man or young woman can be trained with the shadow of that monument but that it will make him or her noble and patriotic and more willing to live and die for the country which has a brave General and President buried there.

CHAIRMAN ZACHARIE: The formal proceedings of the evening are now closed. After the adjournment, General Porter will be glad to meet his friends in the room on the <sup>South</sup> ~~west~~ and the society will entertain our friends with the collation spread in the adjoining room.

the President of the United States

On Monday afternoon, April twenty sixth ~~President~~ arrived at the Windsor Hotel to participate in the ceremonies of the Grant Monument on the following day. The President of the Society in company with several members of the Grant Monument Medal Committee waited upon President McKinley and presented him with a silver medal. The President replied in a most gracious vein.

The same gentleman proceeded to the residence of Major William L. Strong and presented him with a silver medal.

Mr. J. Sanford Salts on the same afternoon waited upon Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant at the Fifth Avenue Hotel and in the name of the Society presented her with a silver medal.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PAPERS AND PUBLICATIONS.

Mr. President and Gentlemen:

The Committee on Papers and Publications respectfully makes herewith its Fifth Annual Report.

The following papers have been read at stated meetings of the Society:

December 2nd, 1897, Subject, "UNITED STATES HISTORY AS ILLUSTRATED BY ITS POLITICAL MEDALS", by Mr. ADOLPH W. SANDERMAN.

January 13th, 1898, Subject, "DEVELOPMENT OF AUTHORITY IN ASIA AND AMERICA", by Mr. Stewart Culin.

February 10th, 1898, Subject, "THE PIRAMIDS OF EGYPT", by Mr. Henry de Morgan.

While the number of papers was not as great as in some previous years, they were all of unusual merit and in each instance were profusely illustrated with interesting material. The attendance also gave good evidence of this fact, for these meetings drew forth larger gatherings than we have ever previously been favored with.

While all this is very satisfactory and encouraging, yet your Committee desires to state that we have but a limited number of friends whom we are able to call upon to read papers, and that to keep up a regular series we need the active co-operation and assistance of our fellow members.

We therefore request that members will look around with this object in view, and your Committee will be pleased not only to hear from volunteers in this direction, but will also be glad to receive suggestions and advice that will tend to assist us in gathering material for future meetings and exhibitions.

We desire to call the attention of the Society to the fact that the Annual Proceedings for 1897, as well as papers read at the meetings, were printed and issued promptly, and that we see no reason why this should not be kept up in the future, for we believe the regular issue of this material will result greatly to the benefit of the Society.

Respectfully submitted,

Henry Russell Brown
Chairman
William Faxon
Committee.

Mr. President and Members of the American Numismatic & Archaeological Society:-

As I have been absent from the City during the greater part of the past year, I have but little to write except regarding the Grant Medals, which are fully described in another report. I have received a number of interesting letters from our Corresponding Members, showing zeal on their part toward the Society.

While in Paris last summer three Bronze Grant Medals were intrusted to me, to be placed where I thought best, in the name of the Society. One I presented to the Mint Museum, the gift being subsequently acknowledged by a call from one of the officials and letters of thanks to the Society. Another Medal I had forwarded to His Majesty The King of Siam, who was in Paris at the time, and a letter of acknowledgement was received from the Consul of Siam. The last of the three Medals was presented to Monseigneur le Duc d'Orleans, who was then in England, in remembrance of the services rendered to the United States Army during the late war, by his father, le Comte de Paris. A letter of thanks has been received from Monseigneur le Duc.

While in Paris I presented in the name of the Society two Bronze Medals of the late Dr. Muhlenburg, one to the Paris Numismatic Society, and one to the Mint Museum, both of which have been duly acknowledged.

Among the books received, may be mentioned one entitled "Numismata Londinensia-Medals struck by the Corporation of London to commemorate <sup>important municipal</sup> ~~historical~~ events, 1831-1893", the gift of Mr. S. P. Avery; "Heraldry in America", by Eugene Zieber, the gift of Mr. J. Sanford Saltus; "The United States Coinage of 1793-Cents and Half Cents", by Sylvester Sage Crosby, a gift from the author; and two curious old books in the Latin language, one by Laurent Fager and the other by John Frederic Gronovius, both dated 1691, the gift of Mr. Henry Russell Drowne.

The above gifts are briefly alluded to for the purpose of reminding members of the fact that the Library is growing, and that each one may have his or her part in making it complete. I say complete, but, perhaps, that is not the best expression to use, for a library, like an education, can never be said to be complete. Its motto must ever be,
"Plus Ultra".

Although we have here a collection of numismatic books and pamphlets which is without doubt unsurpassed in this country, members need never despair of finding something in which the Library is deficient, and which they can supply to its shelves.

The binding of pamphlets and periodicals, (some containing valuable plates), is an important part of the library work. It has been attended to as usual. The fund now available for binding purposes is the sum of $42.25.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

clock donated by Mr. Victor S. Brown

March 29th

Mr. Samuel L. Helden, Rec. Sec.,

34 Westfield Ave., Elizabeth, N. J.

Dear Mr. Helden:-

Will you please call a meeting of the Executive Committee of the American Numismatic & Archaeological Society at this office on Wednesday afternoon the 6th proximo.

I recollect that you find it more convenient to have the meeting early in the afternoon but at the same time I think it would be impossible to get the gentlemen together earlier than 2.15 P.M.

If you prefer that hour please call it at 2.15 P.M. but if 3 P.M. is equally convenient for you, I would prefer the latter hour.

I have had in contemplation inviting the members of the Executive Committee to dinner at my house but as next week is Holy Week, I shall not carry out my intention until after Easter.

Very truly yours,

President

JOHN BAYNES,

17 West 43rd Street, City.

My dear Mr. Zabriskie,

The members of the Conference, recipients of the medal struck by the Society of which you are President, were much impressed with its beauty, and said they would always prize it as a valuable possession. The Conference unanimously decided to adopt the reverse of the medal as the seal of the Conference. You will remember that this bears the name of the Society, which would be inappropriate for use as the seal of the Conference. The suggestion has been made that in place of this name the following sentence, defining the objects of the Conference, might be substituted: "Charity and Correction are two sides of one great cause; the uplifting of humanity."

I write to inquire if the American Numismatic & Archaeological Society would object to this substitution, which commends itself to my judgment, as I hope it will to yours? If official action by the Society is necessary before the change can be made for the seal, may I ask you to introduce the subject to this end.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir,

I have great pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of your letter announcing my election as corresponding member of the American Numismatic and Archaeological Society for a further course of two years which position I consider an honour and will endeavor to bear up to the honour.

The greater portion of last year I spent travelling in Japan and China and consequently have no opportunity of attending to my duties in connection with your society but hope in the future to make amends for past neglect. There is really nothing in the colony of Archaeological interest nearer to me than numismatic but of much importance. Should be rare branches of the Royal Mint in various localities in Melbourne.

expressive ideas the name of National heraldry. I also enclose the Australian Federation Passage which is at the present moment in great request. Tomorrow
June 3<sup>d</sup> is a day on which our fate will be decided.
At present we have different laws. different tariffs different customs and different everything. each of our colonies simulates antagonistic to each other barriers of many descriptions are raised between us which we hope tomorrow's vote will forever disperse. I have forwarded you a copy of our great Federation Bill and if you have patience to peruse it you will be able clearly to see what we are strenuously striving for. With your kindly ever my apologies to Mr Baker for failing to reply to his last letter. I hope soon to atone for my remissness in that respect.
With best wishes for the success of your society
I am, yours faithfully

Geo M Arthur.

P.S. I am pleased to tell you that the sentimentality of our nation is wholly in favour of America in its struggle with Spain.
At the same time we are much surprised at the weakness and courage of the world of business, financial and mercantile nations.

P.S. With reference to the Paper contributed by Mr. John Payer (pages 97-103) on the "Gun Money of James II." I would like to add the following information, viz:-

The soft-mixed metal of which those worthless coins were composed was known among the Irish as Uim-box, pronounced 'Oombuy, i.e. soft copper, worthless money; and in the course of their dealings the modern use of the word
"humbug" took its rise, as in the phrases "That's a piece of uimbox," "Don't think to pass off your uimbox on me." Hence the word "humbug" came to be applied to anything that had a specious appearance, but which was in reality spurious.
It is curious to note that the very opposite of the word
"humbug" i.e. false metal, is the word "sterling", which is also taken from a term applied to the "true" coinage of Great Britain, as "sterling coin," "sterling worth" &c.

THIS 100 PAGE ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY

was established in 1895. It has the largest circulation of any collectors' monthly in the world, and in size has no rival. More collector ads in THE WEST than in all other American collector monthlies combined. The best paying medium for advertisers, one cent a word. Rates small, results large. It will pay any dealer to write to us about it. Our motto: "The best and lots of it." Invest ten cents judiciously by sending it to L. T. BRODSTONE, Publisher, Superior, Nebraska, U. S. A.

A FEW TESTIMONIALS

Century Co., Montreal, and Marks Co., Toronto, two largest dealers of Canada, not missed having ad in West close to six years. Pays them and will help you to try it. S. Hughes, of Omaha, had ads from first year West published and says pays big. Western Post Card Co., Indianapolis: First 3 mos. ad paid fine. L. V. Cass, Bedford, Pa., reports "The West" pays best of all collectors' papers put together, and tried them all. C. W. Seymour, Brooklyn, N. Y., reports received over $500 cash orders from his one page ad. Look at the ads it carries. If it didn't produce results, it wouldn't have so many. Try an ad. It will pay you.
